One of the most charming trips about Nassau or the Bahamas is a sail over the sea gardens, where all below you there is a wilderness of coral and submarine growth three to ten fathoms, but with a water glass perfectly visible. It is a perfect marvel of rainbow coloring, of animal, vegetable and mineral growth.

You sail out a few miles from Nassau and then anchor your catboat, get into a glass bottom rowboat and slowly drift in delighted indolence over the vast marine conservatory, while in and out among the coral caves the beautiful angel fish, the humming bird fish or the rainbow fish softly floats like a healthy No. I west housed also to Fish orth daily. 23 a m 225 a m No. 3 west bound Elsonomic 155 p m 500 p m

Sixteen shillings will pay for the trip, and you may take the day for it if you

We had a colored diver, and whenever we saw a bouquet growing on the bottom of the sea that pleased us he would go down and pluck it for us so that we would not get our feet wet. You cannot, gentle reader, imagine how funny he looked under the glass bottom of our boat, strolling about in the vasty deep gathering sea fans and all sorts of

He attains a weight of 600 pounds sometimes and is good for food. He does not rise to the fly, however, and is not a game fish. In fact, when the fisherman wants him, he goes down and gently puts the hook in his mouth while the partner in the boat hauls away. It is very exciting. It is about as sportsmanlike as it is to move a county seat by putting a bent pin under the county when it sits down.
